

Calling the Park Patroll

We're facing a critical climate crisis. A pollution epidemic is killing of flowers and ravaging parks worldwide - turning them into wastelands! My triends and I need your help to right the nasty Smoglings and return our parks to their former beauty to save the world!

Here's how you can help: Plant this note to make colorful flowers grow spreading happiness in your community.

It's that easy! Together we can save the environment and make our world beautiful.

See you on Nintendo DSI Chibi

This postcard is embedded with a handful of annual and perennial wildflower seeds. Plant under a thin layer of laose soil. Water daily and keep maist until seedlings are well established.
